Lettera aperta a tutti gli Stati Parte della Convenzione quadro delle Nazioni Unite sui cambiamenti climatici Transizione giusta adesso. Istituite il BAM!

Eccellenze,

l'Accordo di Parigi conteneva una promessa: che l'azione climatica avrebbe tutelato i diritti e i mezzi di sussistenza delle persone, facendo ricadere lo sforzo della transizione su chi porta la maggiore responsabilità della crisi.

Dieci anni dopo, grazie a un instancabile lavoro di organizzazione, mobilitazione e advocacy portato avanti da una coalizione senza precedenti di sindacati, Popoli Indigeni, femministe, giovani, comunità in prima linea, movimenti sociali di base e società civile, abbiamo ottenuto una grande vittoria nella lotta per la giusta transizione.

La COP30 di Belém ha rappresentato una vera svolta: è stato assunto l'impegno ad attuare una Giusta Transizione che metta al centro lavoratrici e lavoratori, comunità e Popoli Indigeni, per costruire un futuro fondato su diritti, giustizia, equità e solidarietà. È stato anche un appello a una cooperazione internazionale senza precedenti, affinché ogni Paese possa trovare nuovi percorsi verso la giustizia sociale ed economica entro i limiti planetari, in linea con il principio di equità e con quello delle Responsabilità Comuni ma Differenziate e delle Rispettive Capacità (CBDR-RC).

Il 2026 è stato segnato da devastazioni derivanti da temperature globali senza precedenti, dalla crescita del potere dei miliardari, da un'incessante espansione dei combustibili fossili che non è riuscita a porre fine alla crisi energetica e all'inaccessibilità economica dell'energia, e da disuguaglianze in ulteriore, vertiginosa crescita. Chi ha contribuito meno a causare la crisi climatica è chi ne viene colpito di più. E senza azione, tutti gli importanti messaggi concordati lo scorso anno resteranno promesse vuote.

A Belém avete concordato di sviluppare un meccanismo per la Giusta Transizione entro la COP31: una risposta diretta alla nostra richiesta del BAM.

Le nostre organizzazioni, che rappresentano lavoratrici e lavoratori in contesti formali e informali, Popoli Indigeni, Persone di Discendenza Africana, movimenti contadini, diversità di genere, femministe, giovani, movimenti ambientalisti e sociali e comunità in prima linea, chiedono a tutte le Parti di adottare ad Antalya una decisione che migliori concretamente le vite e i mezzi di sussistenza di milioni di persone, imprimendo una nuova direzione alla cooperazione climatica: una cooperazione che metta al centro le persone e i loro diritti.

Eccoci, dunque. Alla vigilia della COP31, ribadiamo l'urgente necessità che i Paesi diano seguito agli impegni assunti alla COP30 e istituiscano immediatamente il Meccanismo di Belém-Antalya per la Giusta Transizione.

Più concretamente, ciò significa:

Concordare le funzioni, le modalità, la governance e i metodi di lavoro del meccanismo in modo da sostenere l'attuazione dei diritti, dei principi e delle politiche concordati alla COP30. Ciò significa un BAM che promuova i diritti umani e del lavoro, il lavoro dignitoso e l'occupazione di qualità, l'uguaglianza di genere, l'equità intergenerazionale e i diritti alla salute, allo sviluppo e a un ambiente pulito, sano e sostenibile, nel pieno rispetto dei diritti intrinseci, distinti, individuali e collettivi dei Popoli Indigeni, compresi il Consenso Libero, Previo e Informato, l'autodeterminazione e la protezione dei Popoli Indigeni in isolamento volontario e in contatto iniziale.

Garantire che il BAM disponga di un assetto istituzionale adeguato allo scopo. Il BAM deve avere un mandato e disposizioni istituzionali dedicate per fornire supporto tecnico e finanziario alle strategie di Giusta Transizione, coordinare gli organismi competenti all'interno e all'esterno delle Nazioni Unite e promuovere uno scambio di conoscenze inclusivo e regionalmente equilibrato, che rispetti l'integrità scientifica e la diversità metodologica.

Tradurre nell'UNFCCC uno dei grandi insegnamenti degli approcci di Giusta Transizione: niente su di noi senza di noi. Il BAM deve essere inclusivo e democratico e garantire che le persone titolari di diritti e i gruppi vulnerabilizzati abbiano un posto al tavolo. Dobbiamo mettere lavoratrici, lavoratori e comunità alla guida delle decisioni che riguardano le loro vite e i loro mezzi di sussistenza.

L'azione climatica deve funzionare a favore delle persone, non contro di esse.

Se realizzata nel modo giusto, una Giusta Transizione ci conduce a posti di lavoro dignitosi, mezzi di sussistenza sicuri, rispetto dei diritti dei Popoli Indigeni e dei loro sistemi di conoscenza, sovranità alimentare ed energetica, protezione sociale, comunità più sicure e più sane, e a un futuro e un ambiente vivibili per tutte le persone. Se ignorata, diventa il prossimo pretesto per ritardi, esclusione, estrazione e cattura da parte delle grandi imprese, che perpetuano i danni.

Facciamo fronte unito, sindacati, Popoli Indigeni, femministe, giovani, realtà ambientaliste e movimenti della classe lavoratrice, in una richiesta comune di giustizia e trasformazione, per un'azione all'altezza della portata della crisi e della dignità di chi la sta vivendo.

Fate sì che la COP31 di Antalya venga ricordata come il momento in cui il mondo ha finalmente mantenuto la promessa di una Giusta Transizione e ha scelto la giustizia anziché il fallimento, il momento in cui i governi hanno dimostrato che il multilateralismo può ancora dare risultati per le persone e per il pianeta.

Distinti saluti,

L'elenco completo delle organizzazioni firmatarie è riportato di seguito e qui.
Qui potete consultare le singole richieste delle constituency basate sui diritti, che illustrano più nel dettaglio le nostre visioni per il BAM.
